

Reversed bending test

(DO 9.21-4220)

This standard describes a cyclic bending test (rotation in an oval pattern) on flexible conduits under standard ambient conditions (23°C/50% relative humidity). The conduit is tested until failure. The number of cycles to fracture determines the fatigue strength of the conduit.